Police are investigating after a male cougar was shot at least twice in Adams County, Michigan. The cougar was killed Saturday evening at about 7:45 p.m. in the parking lot of the Legacy Casino in Adams Township. Officials say they received a report shortly before that a male cougar was running loose in the parking lot. Both the cougar and the people who reported it are fine. "We received calls of the cougar being very aggressive toward cars in the lot and toward people. We received two calls on this particular incident and the male cougar that was shot was driving into an area of the parking lot where people were walking," said Porfilio. This is the fourth cougar killed since 2015 in Michigan.
