Leaders Cup The iBomber Defense Pacific Leaders Cup is the leading air race for fixed-wing powered fixed wing airplanes that takes place 2 October each year in Phuket, Thailand and on Sadao Island, Japan. The event is organized by Team iBomber Defense, a partnership between the teams of Osaka Municipal Central Hospital and Juntendo University Ube Elementary School in Japan. As of the start of the 6th edition in 2015, the event is the only fully school-run air competition. With the role of school, the Japan Air Self Defense Force plays as organizer of pilots from the JASDF. The competition's task is to support students and teachers by demonstrating a fundamental level of competency in fixed-wing aeronautical skills. The pilots are also used to recognize the hard work by students and teaching staff by giving them awards. History The iBomber Defense Pacific Leaders Cup was first held in 2007. The competition is designed to develop the technical skills of young children, standardize the aviation education including formation flying, and encourage community bonding. Participants Japan Air Self Defense Force Osaka Municipal Central Hospital Juntendo University Ube Elementary School Champions Categories The iBomber Defense Pacific Leaders Cup is divided into three categories: Open Class Class A Junior Category Class B Junior Category Medals Medals for school students iBomber Defense Pacific Leaders Cup Medal Rolex Momentum Device in plastic or metal Pilot's Risk-Free Trophy Result summary References Category:Air sports Category:Model aircraft Category:Buildings and structures in Phuket Partial elimination of nitrile hydratase from Serratia marcescens by a specific gene disruption using a counterselectable suicide vector. To investigate the physiology, especially the bioconversion reaction, of the nitrile hydratase (NHase) system in Serratia marcescens B6. A counterselectable and gene-disruption vector was constructed by connecting both ends of an Escherichia coli lacZ operon to the NHase gene coding sequence. This was used to create mutants of S. marcescens B6, which disrupted several open reading frames (ORFs) annotated in the genome as encoding putative synthases or regulators. The NHase gene was completely eliminated
